25 - 27 March 2019

DRBF's Central & Eastern European Conference and Workshops

“The Life Cycle of a DAB/DAAB FIDIC 2017 v. FIDIC 1999”

Held in just a few short weeks, the DRBF's Central and Eastern Europe regional conference, convening experts in Dispute Resolution, is designed for practitioners, seeking to enhance their knowledge and experience in the implementation of Dispute Boards, including a more in-depth look at the DAAB process under the FIDIC 2017 contracts, and how to implement them, with an emphasis on specifics of the region. Through innovative, engaging workshops and presentations, the practical aspects of DBs will follow the life cycle process, from the pre-contract stage through dispute avoidance techniques, hearings and decisions, each with mock presentations to bring the issues to life for the audience. The two-day conference of learning and networking will focus on understanding how to develop, implement, and deliver a successful Dispute Board program to maximize dispute avoidance and deliver swift and cost-effective resolutions, a hallmark of successful projects. Day one offers an interactive and lively lecture style workshop on practical issues that often arise in the DB process plus a half day case studies based workshop for more experienced practitioners.

This special event will bring together experts and those new to DBs, with delegates being provided ample time to share their insights, and to learn and network in an engaging environment.

Who should attend?

Any practitioner involved in international construction contracts and disputes: contractors, engineers, in-house lawyers from construction companies, independent construction lawyers, arbitrators, counsels, mediators, contract managers and client representatives (including public authorities).

Several industry leaders and a number of expert speakers from past DRBF events have been invited.
